Presents the

Spring 2014 Raines Colloquium

Historically Black Colleges and Universities: Past, Present, and Future

Dr. Patricia Green-Powell

Interim Dean & Professor

College of Education, Florida A&M University

Thursday, February 27, 2014 | 1:00–2:30 PM
252 Erickson Hall

The future of higher education is dependent upon its ability to meet the needs of the changing demographics of its students. Dr. Green-Powell addresses the value of institutional leadership and student affairs at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) and the necessity of addressing the forever-changing needs of college students.

Dr. Green-Powell is the author of Methodological Considerations in the Field in the Context of Six Case Studies with Black Female Principals; Rallying Support; and several other publications. She has published numerous articles on mentoring, with some of the articles focusing on African-American females. Dr. Green-Powell has also served as a speaker and presenter on mentoring on numerous occasions.

Dr. Green-Powell is currently the Interim Dean of the College of Education and Professor, Department of Educational Leadership at Florida Agricultural & Mechanical University. She received her Bachelor of Science degree in Speech Pathology and Audiology from Florida A&M University, and Master's and Doctorate in Educational Administration/Leadership from Florida State University. She is a former Vice President of Student Affairs at Florida Agricultural & Mechanical University and Bainbridge College (first African-American female appointed to this position). Additionally, Dr. Green-Powell developed the first Florida Adult Literacy Resource Center in the State of Florida which was designed to assist Florida's literacy providers to continually improve their delivery of services to clients.

The Raines Colloquium honors the significant contributions of Emeritus Professor Max Raines to the department, the college, the university, and the field of student affairs in higher education. A national leader in the field, Dr. Raines was also a critical figure in creating a strong academic and professional foundation for MSU's nationally recognized programs in student affairs, adult education, and higher education.
